The First Baby.

The moment I opened my eyes there was my mother standing beside me. The room was so dark that I thought for a moment what a fog there must be; but the next, I forgot everything at hearing a little cry, the cry of my first and only child, which I had not yet seen, but which my mother now held in her grandmotherly arms, ready to hand to me.

I dared not speak; for I felt very weak, and was afraid of crying from delight. I looked in my mother's face, and she folded back the clothes, and laid the baby down beside me, with its little head resting on my arm.

"Draw back the curtain a little bit, mother,
dear," I whispered, "and let me see what it is like."

I believe I said it, for I was not quite a mother yet.

My mother did as I requested; a ray of clear spring light fell upon the face of the little creature by my side, and if I dared not speak before, I could not now. My mother went away again and set down by the fireside, leaving me with my baby. Never shall I forget the unutterable contentment of that hour. It was not gladness, nor was it thankfulness, that filled my heart, but a certain absolute contentment; just on the point, but for my want of strength, of blossoming into unspeakable gladness and thankfulness.

Somehow, too, there was mingled with it a sense of dignity, as if I had vindicated for myself a right to a part in the marvellous chain of existence, in carrying on the designs of the great Maker?

Not that the thought was there,—only the feelings which afterwards found the thought, in order to account for its own being.

Besides, the state of perfect repose after what had passed, was itself bliss; the very sense of weakness was delightful, for I had the right to be weak,—the rest as much as I pleased, to be important, and to be congratulated.

Mud Baths and Earthquakes.

As a remedial agent for the certain cure of all diseases to which flesh is heir, and many of those acquired by individual enterprise, mud baths stand unrivalled. The hygienic properties of such treatment is not mentioned in the therapeutics of the medical faculty, yet its virtues are generally known and appreciated in these parts. During one of the recent commotions in real estate, our friend Bob Reed was enjoying the luxury as well as testing the curative properties of a mud bath at the Hot Springs. Everybody knows Bob, whose health is quite delicate, as his general appearance indicates, his present avocations being only a trifle over two hundred pounds. Half buried in the soft and warm mud, in that blissful state of repose in which the mind is almost oblivious of surroundings, he experienced a sensation novel and exciting. He suddenly discovered that the earth was rocking beneath him, and that the waters in the pool beside him were considerably agitated. Thinking the earth was sinking from under him, with a bound which would make a circus rider famous, he cleared from his recumbent position ten feet of mud, "it" a quarrel horse for the foot hills. His appearance, after his scare subsided and he returned to the springs to wash and dress, can be more easily imagined than described. It is said that he bore a striking resemblance to a New Zealand Colof, and that his back looked like a map of Mexico at the close of a periodical revolution. He thinks mud baths are a dead shot on rheumatism—when there are earthquakes around.—Humboldt Silver State, March 30th.

Laura Fair, it is announced, has so completely changed the current of public feeling which set in with her conviction, that she is now confident of acquittal in the approaching trial. She has given herself little care during the interim. The very comfortable fortune she had when convicted has been increased, by her own well-directed speculation, by more than $150,000; beside which, during her imprisonment, she has waged interminable and successful law-suits, and written a book or two.

Charles Northcott says: "If you have been on a street car when it ran off the track and was dragged over the cobbles, you may easily know the sensation of a California earthquake."

The Apportionment.

The Assembly Committee on the apportionment of the State into thirty-two Congressional districts, have reported on a bill which provides for that purpose. In some respects it is the most absurd bill ever reported to the House, as it forms districts without the least regard to relative populations, besides making districts of a most inconvenient character.

Let us examine a few of them. The Eleventh District is at present composed of Orange and Sullivan, Twelfth of Dutchess and Columbia, and the Thirteenth of Ulster and Greene. These three districts have a nearly equal population, viz, Orange and Sullivan, 115,463; Dutchess and Columbia, 121,250; Ulster and Greene, 115,907. There is but 444 difference between the Orange & Sullivan and the Ulster & Greene districts, and yet this apportionment bill proposes to leave the former undisturbed, while it adds Schoharie to the Ulster & Greene District, with a population of 33,346. This would make these three districts stand as follows: Orange & Sullivan, 115,463; Dutchess & Columbia, 121,250; Ulster, Greene & Schoharie, 149,247. The population of the latter district would thus be 33,781 greater than its neighbor on the south, and 27,997 greater than that of its neighbor across the river. As the requisite number for a District, according to the new Congressional apportionment, is 134,000, the 12th (O. & S.) would have 18,537 less than required, the 13th (D. & C.) 12,750 less, and the 14th (Ulster, Greene & Schoharie), 15,217 more than required, or one-fourth greater than the other two. This is manifestly, glaringly unjust, and it would not seem as if such a bill stood the least chance of passing.

On the ground of convenience the people of the two other districts will have no reason for complaint, as their districts are connected by easy routes of communication; but the 14th will be as inconvenient as it would be possible to make a district. The people of Ulster can't reach Schoharie without a long stage ride or via Albany, and so down the Albany & Saratoga R. R. The most convenient place for holding a congressional convention would be Albany, and the ends of the two districts would be practically as far removed from each other as Kingston and Baltimore. In fact it is hard to conceive of a district more manifestly inconvenient, and adding to this the fact that to form it it has been necessary to put into it a large excess of population, it is outrageously unjust.

A New Development of the Erie War.

The case of Gordon against Jay Gould to recover possession of certain stocks and bonds forced from the former by threats of arrest and seizure of all his private papers, now pending before Judge Brady, assumes an interesting phase. If the allegations of the complainant are true, and they are partly confirmed by Horace Greeley and the clerk of the Metropolitan Hotel, Gould, Tweed, Belden & Co., were as big a set of bandits as ever lived on the earth.

It appears the English stockholders in Erie entrusted their affairs to Gordon, Earl of Aberdeen, one of the most wealthy noblemen in the British Empire, who came to New York during the winter, to see that the thirty thousand shares of stock, which he represented, were duly registered on the books of the company, and to secure a change of management in the road. When Gould found out the truth of his mission, he sought an interview with him and obtained it. This was on the 2d of March last. To the surprise of Gould, Greeley was with Gordon. At the interview the latter fully explained his purpose and object, declaring he must have his rights. The wily President of Erie acceded to his request, promising to withdraw all opposition to the repeal of the Erie Classification Act, to retire from Wall street if he continued in the management of the road, and to do all in his power to restore justice and right in its management.

Here the meanness of the Ring showed itself. Gould, Tweed & Co., took officers to Gordon's room and made him fork over a lot of stock, under threat of arrest, and actually accomplished their purpose, he being afraid they would get hold of all his private papers, certificates, etc. Not satisfied with this, they set spies on his heels, and compelled him to keep a trusted servant to guard his person.

These are the facts of the case. The public will justly be alarmed that such a class of men are allowed to live outside of prison. Yet like villainous stalks in our midst.

A Sensible Bill.

A bill has passed the Assembly, and will pretty surely pass the Senate, which is so sensible it is a wonder that it was never before made a law. It provides that all notices and citations issued by surrogates and now required by law to be published in the state paper, shall hereafter be published in a newspaper printed in the county in which the surrogate's office is situated.

Heretofore these notices have been published in a paper at the capital of the state, and in most cases attracted the attention of the parties interested, by accident, if at all, and so almost entirely failed of the object for which they were published. As a token of good sense on the part of our legislators this is gratifying, and will meet with general approval.

EY TELEGRAPH TO DAILY FREEMAN.

FRANCE.

Paris, April 25.

The Spanish mails have not come to hand today. The Universe and Liberte announce that Don Carlos has crossed the frontier and is now in Spain at the head of ten thousand men. Some journals say a perfect understanding exists between the Carlists and the republicans. The former have drawn troops into the open country and leave the towns defenceless against the republicans, who are to rise against the government on the 1st of May in all parts of Spain. Only two Isabelist generals have as yet joined the insurrection. The French Legation holds aloof from this last daring scheme of Don Carlos.

Marseilles, April 25.

An Italian bark with a cargo of 1,900 cases of petroleum took fire last night in the midst of crowded shipping at this port. Through the energy of the officers and crew of the United States frigate now in the harbor the burning vessel was isolated and an extensive conflagration avoided. The Prefect and merchants of Marseilles have returned thanks to the officer commanding the American fleet.

GREAT BRITAIN.

London, April 25.

In the House of Lords to-night the Duke of Cleveland made a second reading of the prisoners' ministers bill, the object of which is to pay Roman Catholic chaplains for their services in the prisons. Lord Cleveland said he had observed that many sections of the country, notably Liverpool and the neighborhood, were intensely Catholic and the passage of this bill was as much a matter of policy as of justice. Lord Oramore spoke against the measure. He declared the time had come when the pretensions of the church of Rome should be crushed.

Vicount Melbourn confessed when it was proposed to make the Roman priest an official person he felt bound to hail.

The bill passed by a vote of 53 to 22.

SPAIN.

Madrid, April 25.

The friends of the Ministry in the new Cortes had a meeting last night, which was presided over by Admiral Topete. The object of the meeting was to secure the government of sympathy and support in its struggle with the insurrection. Sagasta made a fiery speech, demanding to be placed at the post of greatest danger. Serrano and Rosas also made addresses full of patriotic enthusiasm and loyalty.

ITALY.

Naples, April 25.

The eruption of Mount Vesuvius, which has been increasing in violence since the first signs of commotion, has now reached an unwonted pitch of grandeur. New craters have formed and streams of lava are pouring down the mountain side in different directions. Naples is already crowded with visitors, and tourists are arriving from all parts of Europe to witness the spectacle.

FROM SALT LAKE.

Salt Lake, April 25.

The motion to release Brigham Young on a writ of habeas corpus was argued to-day before the Mormon Probate Court, the Territorial Attorney General being for the petition and Deputy United States Attorney High and P. Gleason for the United States Marshal. The motion was resisted on the ground that the Probate Court is an inferior tribunal, which could not review the proceedings of a District Court. It was also objected that the Probate Court had no power to release a prisoner held by a United States officer under judicial process.

The Probate Judge overruled all objections, holding that the proceedings of the United States courts in the territory during the past two years had been illegal, and he expressed himself as being firmly and unalterably of the opinion that the people of the territory have a right to govern themselves; that the Supreme Court in the territory had abused and transgressed its power, and he would not respect any of its decisions. It was therefore ordered that the prisoner be released.

The counsel for the United States Marshal entered a solemn protest against the ruling of the court and gave notice that the case would be carried up on a writ of certiorari.

Brigham Young was present in court and when the decision was announced was cordially congratulated by his friends.

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

Washington, April 25.

The Committee on Elections to-day, in Gliding against Clark from Texas, refused the application of Clark for an extension of time to take testimony. The committee will proceed with the case on its merits on Monday. There are now also pending the contested cases of Whitmore against Hernon from Texas, Niblack against Wells from Florida, and Bowen against Delage from South Carolina.

The only documents in possession of the Senate Committee on Foreign Affairs on the Alabama question are the United States case and counter case and the British case. They have called for a copy of the British counter case.

A MURDERER HUNG.

Cleveland, O., April 25.

John Cooper, the mulatto who murdered James H. Swing, the colored tin smith, last November, was hung in this city to-day. On the scaffold Cooper made a few remarks, saying he was sorry for what he had done and was prepared to die.

THE NEW YORK CHARTER.

ALBANY, April 25.

At a hearing given by the Governor to-day on the New York Charter, ex-Governor Salomon, Simon Sterne, Prof. Theodore Dwight and Henry J. Wheeler appeared in support of it, and Henry L. Clinton in opposition. Their arguments were directed exclusively to the question of the constitutionality of the provision providing for cumulative voting. The hearing was of an informal nature, being more of a free conversation than anything else. Prof. Dwight at the conclusion of his remarks suggested to the Governor that he send a message to the Legislature proposing an amendment to the charter providing that the cumulative vote be kept separate and distinct and counted by itself, so that in case the cumulative principle was pronounced unconstitutional by the Court of Appeals no damage could result because of the vote taken.

THE FUNERAL OF HON. WM. KELLY.

New York, April 25.

The funeral of ex-Senator Wm. Kelly, late of Rhinebeck, who died at Torquay, England, January 14th, occurred to-day. The services consisted of addresses by President Anderson, of Rochester University, and Rev. Dr. Williams.

OFFICIAL WEATHER REPORT.

WAR DEPARTMENT.

OFFICE OF THE CHIEF SIGNAL OFFICER, WASHINGTON, April 25.

Probabilities.

The lowest barometer will probably move outward over the Lake region, accompanied by brisk southerly winds from Lake Michigan eastward to Lake Ontario, shifting to brisk and high north-westerly over Lake Michigan and Superior during the evening and over Lake Huron and the lower lakes Friday morning. Cloudy and threatening weather with possibly rain will prevail from the Ohio Valley to the lakes, extending over the Middle and New England states Friday. Partially cloudy but pleasant weather with a southerly wind is probable for the southern states.

Forty-Second Congress--Second Session.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, April 25.

Mr. SHERMAN moved to strike out of Mr. Alcorn's amendment to the deficiency bill the provision that judgments of the Court of Claims in suits arising out of the rebellion shall not be paid in excess of special appropriations made or the purpose. Agreed to.

Mr. FREELINGHUYSEN moved to amend Alcorn's amendment, a ready adoption, so as to make it apply only to cases in which it has been found as a proven fact that the claimant had given aid or comfort to the rebellion. Agreed to, 22 to 18.

Mr. JAYARD offered an amendment providing for proof of loyalty to the United States or of having given aid or comfort to the rebellion shall be required of any party to a suit cognizable by the Court of Claims founded on a contract with the United States entered into since the suppression of the rebellion. Agreed to.

Mr. ALBORN offered the following amendment: "And provided further that in any judgment heretofore rendered in favor of claimants in which the question of loyalty was not passed upon, the court, on the application of the claimant, may certify as to the question of loyalty as shown by evidence on record." Agreed to.

Pending final action on the deficiency bill the Senate at 6:30 adjourned.

HOUSE.

A long discussion was had upon the resolutions declaring Dr. Howard an American citizen and calling on the President to demand his unconditional release, &c.

Mr. RANDALL moved to adjourn. Refused, 79 to 62.

Mr. BANKS called for the yeas and nays. Being taken the vote resulted yeas 89, nays 64. Therefore the House at 5:20 adjourned.

The State Legislature.

SENATE.

ALBANY, April 25.

REPORTS.

Mr. BOWEN, the Assembly joint resolution for printing 100 copies of the Manual for the members, and 25 copies for the officers and reporters, for the consideration of the Senate.

Mr. D. P. WOOD desired simply to call attention to the resolution, deeming it so preposterous that he supposed that it would be enough. It would take about $30,000 from the State Treasury to pay the bill, and members could better afford to pay $200 or $300 out of their own pockets than to adopt such a resolution.

Mr. CHATFIELD moved that the Senate non-concur.

Mr. D. P. WOOD moved to indefinitely postpone the consideration of the subject. This would enable the Senate to strike two blows at the resolution in case one failed.

The question was taken and carried--yeas 27, nays 1 (Mr. Winslow).

REPORTS RESUMED.

J. WOOD, concerning certain female habit-donors, and vagrants and prostitutes of Brooklyn.

Mr. WINSLOW, to amend the charter of the New Paltz Savings Bank.

BILLS PASSED.

In relation to challenges of jurors in criminal cases. The jury bill of Mr. Judt, April 23; nays 4. (Messrs. Allen, Lewis, Lord and Murphy).

The hour of two having arrived, the Chair put short further action by declaring a recess to 7 1/2 P. M.

EVENING SESSION.

After two hours' debate of the Assembly, the bill on the subject of the Assembly's right to order to its debtors was laid; yeas 15, nays 15. Cities were excluded from the provisions of the bill. Adjourned.

ASSEMBLY.

A communication was received from Comptroller Green of New York, recommending the immediate passage of the bill making further provision for the local government of New York city and county, and to provide for the immediate settlement of claims against the same. He insists that its prompt passage is imperatively necessary to prevent serious embarrassments.

On motion of Mr. MACKAY the bill was then read a third time and passed.

The SPEAKER presented a communication from the County Clerk of the county of New York in relation to jurors, in response to a resolution of the House. Tabled and ordered printed.

SURVEY OF NEW YORK HARBOR--MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

A message was received from the Governor, informing the Legislature that in compliance with a joint resolution of the two Houses, he applied to the President of the United States, requesting him to appoint three officers of the New York harbor on the Brooklyn side. He transmits a communication from Secretary Belknap, containing notification of the appointment of the Chief Engineer of the Army, the Superintendent of the Coast Survey and Lieutenant-Colonel Newton, of the Engineer Corps, as such Board of Examination, to report to the Governor as soon as practicable, and to the necessity of the Legislature making a money appropriation to cover the expenses of the commission.

Mr. AITKEN asked and obtained leave to present the minority reports of the Committee on Insurance on the conduct of Mr. Miller, Superintendent of the Insurance Department, which will be found in other columns. Tabled and ordered printed.

IMPEACHMENT AND FINAL ADJOURNMENT.

Mr. PRINCE called up his resolution, that the House conclude its legislative business as far as possible on Friday the 26th inst., and that the report of the Judiciary Committee on the cases of the Judges be made a special order at that hour, and that the House then enter upon "proceedings for impeachment," and that notice thereof be given to the Senate and the Comptroller of the State.

By unanimous consent Mr. PRINCE amended the resolution by changing the time named therein to May 1st.

Mr. ALVORD moved to amend by making the report of the Judiciary Committee on the cases of the Judges a special order for Wednesday next, and that all else in the resolution be stricken out.

Mr. PRINCE hoped the motion would not prevail, as the House could, if the resolutions were adopted, proceed with its business.

Mr. ALVORD wished members to disabuse their minds of the idea that they can go on with legislative business and receive pay under this resolution. No pay, he said, would be allowed until the court of impeachment should be organized and acting as such.

The amendment of Mr. ALVORD was agreed to; yeas 62, nays 21.

Mr. PRINCE then moved to lay the resolution on the table. Agreed to.

SENATE AGAINST CONSOLIDATED RAILROAD CORPORATIONS.

To amend the act authorizing the consolidation of certain railroads. Lost, 41 to 34.

Mr. ALVORD in the chair.

The SPEAKER took the floor and moved to reconsider the vote by which the bill was lost, desiring to explain the bill and give members an opportunity to state why they voted against it. The object of the bill was simply to extend the right to bring suits against these companies in the United States Courts. He insisted that this would only be allowing railroad companies on the same footing with individuals. He asked the House if one Commodore Vanderbilt should have a law on the statute book so exclusive as the one now there?

The bill was then reconsidered, 65 to 22, and laid aside.

BILLS PASSED.

To confirm a deed from the co-synod of the Reformed Dutch Church of Poughkeepsie to the co-synod of the Second Reformed Dutch Church of Poughkeepsie.

To amend the charter of the Young Men's Association of Poughkeepsie.

To provide for the erection of a town Hall in Rhinebeck, Dutchess county.

Recess until 7 1/2 P. M.

EVENING SESSION.

Mr. JACOBS moved a reconsideration of the vote this morning passing the bill making immediate provision for the settlement of claims against the city and county of New York, on the reception of a communication from Comptroller Green, asking for immediate action. Jacobs also moved to lay his motion on the table, which was carried.

To extend the time for beginning the construction of the Newburgh and Midland Railroad.

To provide for the exchange of first mortgage bonds of the Poughkeepsie & Eastern Railroad company for second mortgage bonds of said company.

Regulating the payment of highway taxes by railroad corporations. Adjourned.

FRIDAY, APRIL 26, 1872.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

R. & O. R. R.

Trains on this railroad are now running regularly, arriving and departing on time.

Coal Arrivals.

Fifty-one canal boats laden with six thousand three hundred and sixteen tons of coal reached tide water on Thursday. This is by far the largest arrival this season.

Improvement.

Davis' property on the corner of St. James and East Front streets is being improved with a new fence. It needs it—has needed it from a time so far in the past, that man knoweth not to the contrary.

Arrival.

D. C. Overbaugh, at the junction of the R. & O. and Wallkill Valley railroads, has just received 15 cars of coal, and a large cargo of lumber, all sorts, at popular prices. His yard is near Schwalbach's.

Money Stringency.

The stringency of the money market is unprecedented, business men of all kinds being short, and the banks also. After the canal business gets under full headway, which will be in a couple of weeks, easier times may be expected.

Enjoying It.

The beautiful evenings are improved by the young ladies and gentlemen of upper Kingston, who saunter along the streets in loving proximity to each other, and are often found in dark alleyways and unfrequented places, where they can contemplate the starry heavens without being annoyed by the presence of common matter of fact mortals.

Milkmen, Attention!

Many complaints are made about the milkmen in this city for the barefaced manner in which they not only adulterate their milk, but give short measure. Surely purchasers of the lactated fluid pay a sufficient price to warrant them in expecting to obtain a pure article, and our milkmen should not make such haste to become rich that they are compelled to resort to such reprehensible practices. Let us bear no more of it.

Large Contract.

The Whitehall Transportation Company, of which Captain James Heaton is the agent in this city, has contracted to ship 80,000 tons of coal from this port to various places between here and Montreal, through the Champlain canal, during the present season, and Captain Heaton is now offering coal cargoes, with fair prices, to all boats wanting them. Now, boatmen, there is an item for you.

Fire.

About one o'clock this morning the engine room of Morgan Everson's section docks at Sleighsburg was discovered to be on fire. An alarm was sounded in this city and the fire department of the lower district hastened to the dock; but as there was no means of taking the engines across the creek they could be of no service. A large schooner was on the sections at the time, and her fate was anxiously watched from this side. The sections were sunk as quickly as possible and every effort made to save the vessel by pulling her off. Fortunately there was no wind blowing, and the flames were subdued before the vessel could be got away and before any damage was done to her. We could not learn the origin of the fire.

Tows.

The following vessels left this city on Thursday in tow of steamer Oswego for New York: schooners C. H. Macomber, G. M. Porter, Anna H. Berger; boats L. J. Peck, Chas. Wildrick, Wm. Farmer, E. A. Ackley, J. M. Knight, Mary Miller, W. T. Mount, and 391 from Poughkeepsie; a boat from Malloy's dock; seven coal boats; two coal boats for Tarrytown; barge T. D. Wilcox.

Steamer H. P. Farrington for Hudson; boats Herrick, and six coal laden ones; one coal boat for Catskill, one for Germantown.

Steamer Pittsford for Newburgh; two coal boats for Poughkeepsie.

Steamer Baltic for Albany; boats Edith, Two Brothers; barge D. Terry for Catskill, boat 1793 for Troy.

Up tows—from New York for this city: boats George A. Dudley, Hattie, Rachel Deputy, A. B. Kellogg, Orh. L. B. Brothers, 211, C. F. Pettit from Hastings. For Poughkeepsie, boats Maggie Matthews, William Barr, Pike, Van Olinda. For Hudson, boats T. L. Wood, B. F. Carpenter, Emma Tracy, J. R. Chard; ice barges Virginia, Samosette. For Bargeat, boat Atlantic, schooner R. H. Wilson.

An Opening Which Didn't Open.

On Wednesday one of our reporters assumed the role of a staid married man and accompanied three ladies to a spring opening, which was supposed to come off (and didn't) at a certain fashionable millinery establishment in the upper part of the city. The ladies as a compensation for the distinguished honor of his escort (?) solemnly promised to retain their emotions sufficiently to prevent swooning before any ravishing love of a bonnet, and to assist him with the technical phrases of women's head gear when making out his report. Arriving at the establishment where the supposed show was to come off the reporter sandwiched himself between two of the ladies, while the other acted as an advance guard, and the party entered, the reporter's ears as long as the grandfather's of all rabbits and the reporter's eyes opened to such an extent one of the ladies exclaimed, "for goodness sake don't look so wild! none of these ladies want to kiss you." Well, he didn't think they did, (for he'd be a tough old fellow to gnaw on) but he knew if he showed a note book there he'd be invited out-doors, and in his anxiety to see and hear all that was going to take place he unconsciously assumed the amiable expression of a bull in a china shop, or he would have seen at a glance that nothing unusual was going on, as the ladies present were not at all excited, causing one of the ladies who had charge of the reporter to take in the situation at a glance and remark to another lady behind a counter, "when your opening is not to day?" Quoth she, from behind the barricade, smiling sweetly, "oh no! not until next week," and then the party retired, climbing into their vehicle, and went home. That reporter isn't going to the opening next week—he'd rather report the most shocking murder ever perpetrated.

In Memoriam.

It may interest the friends of the late Guy M. Chamberlain to read the following notice of his death, from the Johnston Democrat:

Died.—In this village, suddenly, on the 18th inst., GUY MURRAY CHAMBERLAIN, in the 15th year of his age.

It is with sadness that we record the death of Guy Murray Chamberlain. Guy was the son of William B. Chamberlain, of Baton Rouge, formerly of Johnston. He was a boy of noble impulses; quick in action; devoted in his attachments; manly, upright in character; and marked by high toned principles. His manner was such as to make warm friends, and his sympathies were prompt and generous.

Guy was baptised on Christmas Day, 1859, in St. John's Church, by the Rev. Jas. Byron Murray, and for one so young, had a deep sense of the responsibilities of the sacred ordinance. The obligations into which he entered at that time, influenced his conduct to the hour of his death. He delighted to attend the Sunday and Day School, and to know his lessons. He desired to excel in all that he undertook; and his progress in his studies was remarkable. He was respectful to his teacher and friends, and won their esteem and love. Many testify to this trait of his character. Had he lived, we doubt not, but that his boyhood would have been a true forshadow of a good and useful manhood. His life was beautiful, and to those who knew him best, will leave a sad, but dear and abiding memory.

His work is done; God's purposes in him for this world are fulfilled; and he reposes in the calmness of death. His soul, we feel as sure, is in the Paradise of the redeemed. As he lay in his coffin, his face had its accustomed smile, and wore the prophesy of a coming joy. He is buried in Johnston Cemetery, and his body rests in the sunshine, in the hope of the resurrection.

His young "life is rounded with a sleep."

And Still More Bargainies.

The nocturnal adventurer who has of late been breaking through and stealing from various stores upon the Strand in this city, on Wednesday night perpetrated another robbery by entering the grocery store of Geo. N. Stoddard, on Garden and Ferry streets, and the hat and cap establishment of George S. Secore, on Garden street. The two stores join one another, and an entrance was effected into Stoddard's through the grating in the sidewalk, then by breaking open the cellar door near the grating, the thief passed up the stairway, at the top of which is the door communicating with the store. This door was also locked, but it was forced open, and the robber was in the store to plunder at his own sweet will.

Money seems to be the particular object of the burglar, as no goods of any amount are missed from any of the places which have been entered. In Stoddard's the cash drawer in the book-keeper's desk was broken into by pulling off the front of the drawer, and the cash, amounting to nine dollars and ninety-one cents, taken. There were eight hundred prime cigars on a shelf near the desk which were unmolested, but a bottle of the California wine used for making sauces, was carried away, probably to refresh the nocturnal misadventurer after his labors of the night. Mr. Stoddard does not miss anything else, still the thief may have carried off many dollars' worth of small goods, which could only be ascertained for a certainty by taking an inventory. After his exploits in Stoddard's, the robber descended to the cellar, and going up the stairway communicating with Secore's store, he forced the lock and searched for cash in the money drawer under the counter, but found nothing.

Mr. Secore, having, for the first time, removed four dollars in cents from the drawer and secreted them just before closing in the evening. On a shelf behind the counter was a small writing desk, in a compartment of which were three dollars in notes, and the thief, if he reads this, will have the dissatisfaction of knowing he looked in every part of the desk for money but the right one. Near the desk was lying a wallet, which had also been searched for money without success. A case in which were a quantity of felt hats was opened and some hats, how many is not known, but not more than a half-dozen, taken. Had from the burglar's boots was found on the hats in the case, and on the shelves, while some hats were thrown and left upon the floor. In the show cases, which contained quantities of light goods, such as shirts, collars, cravats, &c., things were left undisturbed, the cases apparently not even having been opened; but a coat about two-thirds full of cigars which Mr. Secore kept in the store for his own and friends' enjoyment, were carried off. The robber could, had plundered other than cash been his object, have filled one of the many traveling bags hanging about with from seventy-five to a hundred dollars worth of small goods and legged them off with ease. On leaving the premises the thief was very careful to shut down the grating in the sidewalk, but left the cellar door on the swing. In Stoddard's store there was a little white dog with a family of pups, and Doctor Metzger, who has rooms over the store, heard the dog barking furiously some time during the night, but as it was a frequent occurrence he paid no particular attention to it.

Murphy's store on Division street was also entered through a rear window in the office, and the drawers in which money and papers are kept broken open. The papers were found in the morning scattered all over the floor, and some few cents and a small pistol stolen. From Murphy's the thief passed into Everson & Bullen's ship chandlery next door, through a skylight in the upper floor, where a few cents were also taken. From Everson & Bullen's the thief broke into George Norris' saloon, where he captured fifty cents in nickels and a bottle of Dutch herrings, after eating which the bottle of California wine stolen from Stoddard's had come in most acceptably. The merchants doing business in the blocks where these burglaries have been committed all, or nearly all, employ, or have employed, a night watchman with, we should say, no particular profit to any one but the watchman, unless the burglars can be counted in. Many of those merchants were present when our reporter was viewing the scenes of the robberies and they expressed themselves in anything but complimentary terms concerning the watchman, and severely denounced his appointment as a special policeman and having charge of the lock-up, and their decision to cease employing him longer seemed unanimous. We refrain from any remarks as to what clues to the person who has been carrying on these robberies, thus far with perfect impunity, have been gained, as they might defeat the ends of justice, but as the cases are in the hands of an intelligent and dutiful officer the arrest may confidently be expected. In the meantime, and until policemen are appointed, let the merchants employ a watchman who will know of these burglaries, if committed, some time before the afternoon of the next day.

Chester, in Orange county, expects to raise half a million bushels of onions this season.

The Bell Case.

The case of Daniel D. Bell vs. John A. Dix, argued at the Court of Appeals, was decided on the 22d inst. by affirming the order with costs. The case will now go on to the Ulster County Calendar and be tried, probably at the October Circuit, 1872. This is the case in which the plaintiff claims heavy damages for imprisonment during the late rebellion, by order of the defendant, at that time a Major General in the United States Army.

Kinny vs. Secor.

Port Ewen was in a flutter of excitement last Thursday morning, because there was a wedding in the R. D. Church at 10 o'clock. The pretty girls were all there; court was held open so the parties and counsel could see the happy couple. Even our old friend Martin G. adjourned his duties as auctioneer until after the services, and found his voice to have become much clearer because of the happy event. The bride and groom were radiant with smiles the dresses perfect, the services short, as such ceremonies always should be, and everybody went home well pleased.

Collision With the Albany Bridge.

The canal boat "Barroughs," forming one of the tow of the steamer Hudson, was bound to Rondout on Tuesday night for a load of coal. In passing through the draw of the new bridge the "Barroughs" struck what is called the upper guard, and received such damage that she immediately commenced to take water. The steamer Hudson whistled for assistance, and Capt. John McCarroll with the propeller George L. Garlie came to the assistance of the Hudson, took the boat from the tow and ran her ashore near Smith & Morris's coal dock in Greenbush. The boat was sinking and was soon full of water. The captain and his family were on board the "Barroughs," and the former was profuse in his thanks to Capt. McCarroll.—Albany Evening Times.

VICINITY.

At a special meeting of the Orange county Supervisors $14,000 was voted for the building of two bridges over the Wallkill, one at Montgomery and another at Walden.

The day boats will commence their trips on the 20th of May.

One of the Albany steam fire engines caught an eel about four feet long in her pump while working at a fire last week. The creature was killed, and it cost over $200 to repair the pump.

DIED.

O'REILLY.—On Thursday morning in New York city, Andrew H. O'Reilly, son of an Irish family of this city, aged 35 years, 2 months and four days. Notice of the funeral hereafter.

LOCAL NOTICE.

PINTS AND QUARTS of filthy cathartic discharges. Where does it all come from? The macaroni man, hiding in the chambers of the nose, and its little glands, are diseased, so that they draw from the blood its liquid, and expel it to the air changes it into corruption. This life-liquid was to build up the system, but it is extracted and the system is weakened by the loss. To cure, grain flesh and strength by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which acts directly upon these glands, correcting them, apply Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy with Dr. Pierce's Nasal Douche, the only method of reaching the upper cavities where the discharge accumulates and comes from. The instrument and two medicines sold for $2 by all Druggists.

PERSONAL.—In justice to Prof. J. I. Charlois and for the information of all concerned, we desire to say that the Professor does not owe us for Carpets, or anything else. Though we sold him a large amount of Dry Goods, he has fully and honorably paid us to the last cent, reports to the contrary notwithstanding. CROSBY, MERRITT & CO.

The "Domestic" is the most durable sewing machine.

We give all due praise to the beauty of the carriage of Longyear & Shullis. At the same time we must confess that the Keller Bros. of the City of Kingston, have for the past and present years, proved to the public that they are in possession of one of the finest and best Livery in the State. The most skillful and careful drivers are employed, while their elegant "turnouts" have no superior in point of style and safety. And these beautiful greys with flowing tails, decked with gold metal harness, attached to their beautiful Clarence Carriage, the arcy envy of many, and even would have caused the late Jim. Flisk, or the present Commodore Vanderbilt, to weep to possess the like. The continued success and patronage of the first families in the city, are evidence they are well deserving of the praise ascribed to them and the patronage of those who desire nothing else but first-class turnouts. 156w2.
